(Col 3 lines 17-27)

As per claims 4 and 13, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein steps (a) and (b) occur in response to the execution of an application by a user of the personal computer (Col 5 lines 25-35)

As per claims 5, 14, 25, 33, and 40, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein step (a) comprises searching application data files associated with a Web browser application. (Col 5 lines 5-25)

As per claims 7, 16, 27, 35 and 42, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein step (b) comprises storing the frequently accessed domain name and transmitting the packetized information to the network gateway. (Col 5 lines 15-25)

As per claims 8, 17, 28, 36 and 43, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein step (b) comprises storing said frequently accessed domain name in a management information base and providing the management information base to the network gateway. (Col 5 lines 15-25)

As per claims 10 and 21 Huitema discloses a method for selectively caching domain name system information on a network gateway that includes a cache, wherein the network gateway is attached to a personal computer that includes a memory, comprising the steps of:

(a) searching files in the memory to identify a frequently accessed domain name; (Col 2 lines 34-41, Col 3 lines 17-26)

(b) providing the frequently accessed domain name from the personal computer to the network gateway; (Col 2 lines 34-41, Col 3 lines 17-26)

(c) generating, in the gateway, a domain name system query that includes the frequently accessed domain name; (Col 2 lines 34-41, Col 3 lines 17-26)

(d) transmitting the domain name system query from the network gateway to a network for resolution; (Col 5 lines 15-35, Figure 5)

(e) receiving, in the gateway, a response to the domain name system query from the network that includes the frequently accessed domain name and a corresponding IP address; and (Col 5 lines 15-35, Figure 5)

(f) storing the frequently accessed domain name and the corresponding IP address in the cache; (Col 4 lines 36-51)

wherein the files in the memory comprise application data files that hold frequently accessed domain names. (Col 3 lines 17-27)

As per claims 19 and 38, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein step (c) comprises generating a domain name system query in accordance with an iterative resolution protocol. (Col 3 lines 27-43, protocol being DNS)

As per claim 20, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, further comprising:

Art Unit: 2141

(g) receiving, in the network gateway, a domain name system query from the personal computer;

(h) resolving, in the network gateway, the domain name system query from the personal computer using a domain name and corresponding IP address stored in the cache. (Col 5 lines 25-35)

As per claims 23 and 31, Huitema discloses the customer premises equipment of claim 22, wherein said memory comprises a hard disk drive. (Col 3 lines 17-27, 3 million records in its database)

As per claims 24 and 32, Huitema discloses the customer premises equipment of claim 22, wherein said communication interface is a home phonline network interface, an Ethernet interface or a Universal Serial Bus interface. (Col 3 lines 17-27)

As per claim 30, Huitema discloses a system for selectively caching domain name system information in a network gateway, comprising:

a personal computer (PC) including a memory that stores files, a communication interface for transmitting information over a communication path, and a PC processor coupled to the memory and the communication interface, wherein the PC processor is configured to search the files to identify a frequently accessed domain name and to provide the frequently accessed domain name to the communication interface for transmission over the communication path; and (Col 3 lines 17-27)

a network gateway including a cache, a PC interface for receiving information over the communication path, a network interface for transmitting information over a network, and a gateway processor coupled to the cache, the PC interface, and the network interface, the gateway processor configured to receive the frequently accessed domain name from the communication path via the PC interface, to generate a domain name system query that includes the frequently accessed domain name, to provide the query to the network interface for transmission to a network for resolution, to receive a response to the query from the network via the network interface that includes the frequently accessed domain name and a corresponding IP address, and to store the frequently accessed domain name and the corresponding IP address in the cache. (Col 2 lines 34-41, Col 3 lines 17-26, Col 4 lines 36-51, Col 5 lines 15-35, Figure 5)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-3 and 11-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huitema (US 6,016,512) in view of Majewski et al. –hereinafter – Majewski (US 2002/0126812).

As per claims 2 and 11, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein the personal computer runs an operating system. (Col 3 lines 17-27, inherent to the computer 110) Huitema fails to disclose wherein steps (a) and (b) are initiated during start-up of the operating system. Majeswski discloses steps (a) and (b) are initiated during start-up of the operating system. ([0094]). At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to initiate searching and providing the frequently accessed domain names by the operating system. The motivation for doing do would have been to transfer large amounts of data from a number of mainframe systems to a central data base in a timely manner with minimal human involvement. ([0017])

As per claim 3 and 12, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10, wherein the personal computer runs an operating system. (Col 3 lines 17-27, inherent to the computer 110) Huitema fails to disclose wherein steps (a) and (b) are initiated periodically by the operating system. Majeswski discloses wherein the personal computer runs an operating system, and wherein said searching and said providing are initiated periodically by said operating system. ([0094], scheduler) At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to periodically search and provide in the disclosure of Huitema. The motivation for doing do would have been to transfer large amounts of data from a number of mainframe systems to a central data base in a timely manner with minimal human involvement. ([0017])

Art Unit: 2141

Claims 6, 15, 26, 34, and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huitema (US 6,016,512) in view of Evgey (US 2002/0120783).

As per claims 6, 15, 26, 34 and 41, Huitema discloses the method of claim 10. Huitema fails to disclose wherein step (a) comprises searching application data files associated with an electronic email application. Evgey discloses wherein step (a) comprises searching application data files associated with an electronic mail application. ([0035]) At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to search files associated with an electronic email application in the disclosure of Huitema. The motivation for doing so would have been for the file to become a depository and a source for other recipients. ([0035])
